DISOBEYS SUBPENA, BUT IS READY TO FALK.

Woman Wanted in the Thaw Case Sends Word That She is Too III to Appear. Before the Grand Jury—Garras Not Going to Hartford to See Sturgis.

Mrs. Mayme Y. Schwarz, who is supposed to know of threats made by Harry Thaw to kill Stanford White, did not respond to the subpæna calling her before the Grand Jury yesterday. According to her physician, Dr. Albert Warren Ferris of 114 West Sixty-ninth street, Mrs. Schwarz is sick. and may not be well enough to appear before the Grand Jury for several weeks.

Mrs. Schwarz, it was said at the Pierrepent last night, is ill in bed. Her doctor says she is suffering from a lung trouble. that she was nearly well when the Thaw case brought her into sudden notoriety and that the result has been a relapse.

Mrs. Schwarz telephoned to Mr. Garvan at noon yesterday that she was unable to appear before the Grand Jury in answer to the subpoens and later her physician sent down a certificate to the effect that she was really ill.

There is reason to believe that Mrs. Schwarz is on the point of telling her story whatever it may be, to Assistant District Attorney Garvan, without being summoned before the Grand Jury. At first she in-sisted that she would not do this and said that it was on the advice of her lawyer, but it is understood that negotiations are now under way which may result in Mrs. Schwarz's making a complete statement at her hotel to Mr. Garvan. If she confirms the stories told to the effect that Thaw not only made the threats against White in her apartments, but also threatened his own wife, she would, of course, become one of the most freportant witnesses for the prosecution.

From a person who is close to the Thaw side it was learned yesterday that Thaw had said that he doesn't even recall the name of Mrs. Schwarz, and that Mrs. Thew, while having a slight recollection of having met such a person, says that she never called upon her and Mrs. Schwarz cannot testify as to any threats made by Thaw. Nevertheless, her lawyer still insists that Mrs. Schwarz has important testimony to give.

Mr. Garvan announced yesterday that he did not intend to make a trip to Hartford to see William Sturgis, Thaw's friend, who has announced that he would not come to Regarding Sturgis, Mr. Olcott, Thaw's lawyer, said vesterday that Sturgis had made a statement of what he knew about made a statement of what he knew about the case fully a week ago to the lawyers for the defence. He is very likely to appear as a witness for Thaw. He was quoted yesterday as saying at Hartford that he had first met Thaw's family before meeting Thaw himself, and that in his acquaintance with Thaw he had never discovered anything that would lead him to believe that Thaw was insane.

with Thaw he had never discovered anything that would lead him to believe that Thaw was insane.

Mrs. Thaw visited her husband twice yesterday. She made a call before noon and then went down to Mr. Olcoit's office. She returned early in the afternoon and appeared to be in very good spirits.

I have good news for Harry, she said, as she went in the second time. She spent some time with her husband on the second visit and left in the same good spirits. Thaw, according to the keepers, was also in good spirits as the result of what his wife had communicated to him.

Mr. Olcott said that he did not know to what Mrs. Thaw had referred and that nothing new had turned up for the defence.

According to one report, however, a wireless, message was received from Thaw's mother. It was sent in care of the lawyers and was taken to the prison by Mrs. Thaw.

Mrs. Thaw, Sr., is expected to reach here on Saturday. She will come for the avowed purpose of helping her son. She has been reported as favoring the insanity plea for his defence. Her arrival is awaited with a great deal of interest because of the advice she is expected to give the lawyers. District Attorney Jerome came to town yesterday and had a long conference with has been preparing the prosecution's case against Thaw. Mr. Jerome absolutely refused to say a word about the case.

According to the best informat on to be obtained yesterday. Thaw's trial wil be called the first Monday in October in Part I. of General Sessions. It will probably be rent from there to the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. in which event an up-State Judge may be assigned to try it.

the Supreme Court, in which event an up-state Judge may be assigned to try it. Mr. Jerome will conduct the case and will be assisted by Mr. Garvan. This will be the first murder case Mr. Jerome has con-ducted. Several witnesses, including May McKenzie, Mrs. Thaw's friend, have allready been served with subpornas calling for them to appear on the first Monday in October.

Kern, candidate for Governor on the Democratio ticket in 1900 and in 1904 and for many years a crose friend and legal adviser of National Chairman Taggart, will leave for Europe as soon as the French Lick gambling cases are disposed of.

'He expects to meet William Jennings Bryan before the latter sails for America. It is understood that Kern's trip is undertaken for the purpose of setting Taggart right in the estimation of the Nebraskan before his mind is poisoned by contact with Taggart's enemies on this side of the big waters.

Kern admitted to-day that be expects to go to Europe at once and that he would see Bryan. He said, however, that the chief purpose of his trip is to take some depositions in a case in which he is in-

Under the voluntary associations act the Auditor of State, when examination shows anything objectionable, may serve notice that the practice must be discontinued. Taggart's lawyers say they will accept such notice and abide by it if the State will consent to quit.

STOKES, SOCIALIST OUTRIGHT. MRS. LAWSON WANTS HER BOYS Gets Out of the Hearst Outskirts Into the Main Camp.

J. G. Phelps Stokes, who married Rese Pastor, has notified Mr. Hearst, whose candidate he was last year for President of the Board of Aldermen, that, although the Independence League is doing good work he is going into the Socialist party Somegresigns from the league. He says: Thave long been a believer in the philosophy of socialism. Hitherto I have refrained from cooperating with the Socialist party, owing to the intense bitterness and Ill will manifested by many Socialists toward nearly all persons who approve and support the capitalist system and owing to what seemed to me the gross materialism, economic and otherwise, of very many Socialists.

I failed to see that the bitterness and ill will referred to were in no way chargeable to the Bockalist philosophy, but were the result of monopoly, extertion and oppression, hibits. the capitalist system.

I have been long in perceiving clearly that there are two chief economic classes in America, as elsewhere; those whose poverty compels them to produce more than they require for their own maintenance and those whose wealth enables them to central and consume more than they produce, and more than they render proportionate service in exchange for that the reward of the former class is invariably less than the value of its product, whereas the reward or income of the latter class is greatly in excess of the of its product and bears no proportionate relation to the value of the service it renders

I would not have it thought that I dis-approve of capital. On the contrary, I regard capital as necessary at present to the public welfare; but as so harmful when used selfishly that its complete control by the people (collectively) is essential.

I intend offering my services to the Socialist party. Either with them, or as a wholly independent citizen, I shall strive to promote recognition of the fact in which I believe— that the so-called capitalist system, as such, is indefensible ethically and disastrous in-dustrially, through the inescapable wage slavery to which it leads, and that it must slavery to which it leads, and that it must be supplanted by a more righteous system of cooperation and mutual aid.

Mr. Stokes has not figured much in the public, eye since last March, when he gave his father's home in Noroton, Conn.

On that occasion young Mr. Stokes rounded up five actual Socialists and a number of thinkers and seekers. While the house party was on Leonard D. Abbott, a magazine writer, and also one-fifth of the Simon Pure Socialists staying at Noroton, said in an interview:

"There are a whole lot of men toying with socialism. The socialist movement in this country has hardly enough respectability, strength or intellect about it to appeal to men like Mr. Stokes. Mr. Stokes's brother-in-law, young Robert Hunter, is more of a Socialist than any of his set."

It was about the time that Mr. Stokes became chairman of Tom Watson's Populist party that the then Miss Pastor, now Mrs. Stokes, wrote of her future husband, "" You feel that he has sown his black young curls with bleaching cares of half-a million men." Mr. Stokes's black young curls were in Noroton last night and their owner pould not be interviewed. And in the

COURT ALLOWS HER TO SEE THEM. BUT SHE CAN'T FIND THEM

Since William M. Lawson, Who to Still Sning for Divorce, Get Another Court Order to Take Them Up State, and She Can't Get Orden to Make Him Tell Where. Another chapter in the markal troubles of William M. Lawson, the wealthy jute manufacturer, and his wife, Lena L. Lawson, has been started through efforts on the part of Mrs. Lawson to see her children, two young boys.

The trouble in this family began two years ago. William M. Lawson brought suit for divorce against his wife on the statutory ground and lost. Mrs. Lawson won the suit and had the custody of the children. Mr. Lawson, on the ground of more evidence of his wife's unfaithfulness, brought another suit which was tried before Justice Garretson in Brooklyn last May. All sorts of sensational testimony was offered, but it failed to convince all the jurymen. They disagreed and were discharged. Mr. Lawson's lawyers announced that the fight would be carried on and asked to have the case put at the top of the calendar; but this Justice Marean, before whom the motion was made, declined to do.

Pending the new trial Justice Sewell gave the children to the mother, but the Appellate Division in Brooklyn modified this order and allowed the father to have the children, giving the mother the right to see them twice a week. Later Mr. Lawson got an order from the Appellate Division allowing him to take the children to the country, to some place in this State that might be recommended by his physician. The children were taken away and at present

Mrs. Lawson asked for the address of the children, but, this was denied her. Edmund Mooney, her lawyer, made a similar application to the lawyers of William M. Lawson They also declined to say where the children were and said it was up to the mother to find that out if she wished to visit them.

On Wednesday Mr. Mooney appeared before Justice Truman C. White in the before Justice Truman C. White in the special term of the Supreme Court in Brock-lyn and asked that William M. Lawson be compelled to state where the children were. Mr. Mooney recited the history of the case and said that the children had been living at the Hotel St. George, but that they were spirited away on July 2. He told the court that Mrs. Lawson was in a very bad state of health and that her being unable to see her children was breaking her down.

unable to see her children was breaking her down.
He intimated that the action of Mr. Lawson in taking the children from their mother was done to aggravate her case. He read an affidavit made by Dr. Ceoil MacCoy of 181 Clinton street, Brooklyn, which said that Mrs. Lawson was in a very grave condition, that she had been at his advice in the Riverdale Sanitarium and that she was now in a condition of mental and nervous coilance.

Justice White said that he did not see how the court could interfere with the order of the Appellate Division and denied the motion.

Mr. Mooney then decided that he had to find the children himself. He had inserted in some of yesterday's newspapers the following personal: INFORMATION of the whoreabouts of OLIVER LAWSON, ased 10, and ROY LAW-SON, ased 8, wanted by their mother, who is seriously til. Address BLANDY, MOONEY & SHIPMAN, 7 Wall st.

& SHIPMAN, 7 Wall st.

Mr. Mooney is sure that he will find the children and as soon as he does Mrs. Lawson will go to visit them if her health will permit. He has an idea that they are at Fonda, in this State. Early in the spring James S. Lawson, a brother of William M. Lawson, went to Fonds with his two boys and they have been living in a cottage kept by Mrs. Jacob Young. Mr. Mooney believes that Oliver and Roy were taken to the same place on July 2. He is taking steps to corroborate this.

the intention of the wreckers to catch the limited passenger train. The fact that it was thirty minutes late and the freight had the right of way is all that saved the lives of perhaps a score of passengers, as the Limited passes over this siding at the rate of forty or fifty miles an hour.

The railroad officials have reason to believe that the switches were spiked by strikers. There has been much feeling against the road among coal miners in the section because it worked the Muren mines which the railroad owned, during the recent strike. Three nights ago an attempt was made to wreck a freight train on the same road by uncoupling cars at different places, so they would run down the grade and bump into the train.
